AMERICAN VS. ENGLISH RAILROAD MEN.

It is amusing to notice some of the editorials of the most rampant Anti-Protection papers, in reference to our Domestic Manufactures. At one time, they declare our position to be entirely pastoral and agricultural,—that we can supply the world with Breadstuffs and Provisions, and that it is better to do so than to engage in manufacturing and bring our people to the condition of what they term "the slave labor of England." How many sheets of white paper have been covered with what was doubtless considerable argument to the writers in support of such theory, would be difficult to tell,—they must so in almost every so-called Democratic paper that we open. Very few papers have been more prominent, in this particular, than the Democratic Press of this city. Occasionally, however, it catches glimpses of the advantage that the country would obtain were its present dependent condition, by developing other resources than those of the soil alone;—a matter which has been clear to the sight of the whig party, and its importance urged by it, for many years. More frequently, indeed, than any other paper, in the whole range of our democratic exchanges, the columns of the Press devoted to the illustration of the strongest arguments in favor of the Protective Policy of the Whig Party, and in direct contravention of its theoretically beautiful Free Trade doctrines. This has become so frequent that now it scarcely excites observation.—Our attention, however, has been called to an article of marked character, in the Press of the 5th instant, which we cannot refrain from copying in full; for we do not desire to adopt extracts, for the purpose of showing the course of the political "Jack O' Lanterns" that constitute the main body of the democratic editorial corps.—The article alluded to was headed "American vs. England Railroad Iron," and was called out by an article on the subject in the American Railway Times.—But we let the Press speak for itself—

> A great many experiments have been instituted to test the relative value of American and English iron for railroad purposes, and without exception, so far as we are advised, the result has uniformly been in favor of the former. Self-defined importance has not heretofore been given to this fact. We have, in building our railroads, made cheapness the consideration, without that due regard to the intrinsic value of material employed which a prudent man would exhibit in the management of his private undertakings. We had so much money, by which we demanded so many miles of railroad, and in order that the demand might be met we sent abroad for material, when beneath the very tracks we were laying down, ruined immediately after the supplies of the same, of far superior quality, but which required a little more money to purchase. Now that the hurry is brought past, it would be well to reverse this order of things. If need be, let us build fewer miles of road, if by so doing we can keep our money at home, support our own artizans, and more durable roads be given us, and more profitable roads in the end. Upon this subject we clip the following from the American Railway Times, as in point.

[The Times article is as follows:]

> We understand that on the section of the Hudson River Railway, near New York, one track is laid with American and the other with English iron. The American track has proved to go several years longer than the English, and is scarcely worn at all, while the English iron will have to be renewed in a few years. At the outset the American iron cost the most money, but had it cost twice as much it would prove cheapest in the end. This case of a large number of engineering works, and of the most scientific, all going to show what a valuable trade has been neglected and suffered to decay in this country during the past eight or ten years. It does seem a most extraordinary course of action for us to send our money abroad for the purchase of railway bars to be laid down immediately over our Iron Mines and Coal Fields".—It is true, also, as the Times says, and the Press endorses, "With the exercise of common sagacity and common prudence, this country has it in its power now to build up an interest in its iron manufactures that will for ostarip in amount and value any other single business interest in the country. If it prove profitable for a very few years, home competition will soon reduce the article to the lowest paying point, just as competition has done in our cotton manufactures." That is the old Whig doctrine, embodied in the American System, originated during the War of 1812-'15, and vindicated as often before Congress and the people by the great statesman of Kentucky, Henry Clay. Give us an adequate protection against the powerful capitalist abroad, and the fires of iron furnaces will light up nearly every State in the Union. Our coal and our iron, richer in quality and more abundant than in any other part of the world, will not then lie worthless at our doors, as they now do. Villages and cities, with their accompaniments, churches, educational institutions, and all the marks of christian civilization, will spring up in every direction, and the people will be economically and pecuniarily what they profess to be politically,—Independent.

An Unwarrantable Remark.

In a report of the proceedings of the World's Temperance Convention at New York, in another column, it will be noticed that our friend Poore, of the Milwaukie Democrat, found himself in rather an awkward position. It was all owing to his attachment for, and devotion to the fair sex; his chivalry led him into danger from which his brawny forbid him to retreat, and as one man, although as brave as Roderick Dhu himself, can not withstand a score, he was obliged to leave the seat of action.

It came to pass in this wise: For several days past, Mr. Booth has been listening to the eloquence of the fair Bloomers, then and there assembled, and his heart had been led captive by one Delilah, Miss Antoinette Brown, and the World's Temperance Convention having met, from which Bloomers had been excluded by a vote of the managers some time ago, Antoinette appeared, accompanied by a "sable brother" Booth, and attempted to take her seat upon the platform, "but was summarily deposed." Great confusion ensued—the delegates were all in arms, and Mr. Booth, endeavoring to defend his lady's claims, raised rather too much of a row, and "was forcibly ejected by the police."

☞ Our readers are aware that Bishop Doane is now undergoing his trial before the House of Bishops assembled at Camden N. Y. The New York Times furnishes a list of the specifications and charges against him, which are 37 in number, and chiefly relate to pecuniary matters, it being charged that Bishop Doane has contracted large and numerous debts beyond his means of payment, amounting to $200,000, while property being not above $100,000.

New York Politics.

There have been, during the last two years, so many divisions and sub-divisions in the ranks of the "unterrified Democracy" of the Empire State, that it would require a Philadelphia Lawyer to keep the thread of their ramifications wholly untangled, and not to confound one faction or wing of the party with another. Barnburners, Soft-shells, Hards, Softers, Adamantines, &c., have multiplied with such a fearful rapidity, that it has required no little patience and diligence to keep pace with the changes and variations of the times. We have recently fallen in with some data as to the present parties and points of parties, which, taken on a whole, make up the Democracy of New-York; now unfortunately all at outs with each other, and it may be interesting to our political readers to give them a slight resume of the same.

The present trouble in the camp, is the contest for the control of the coming Convention, and the struggle is desperate and exsited.

The generic divisions of the combatants is into Administration and anti-Administration men. It is between these, and on this issue, that the battle of the Convention is fought.

The Administration force consists of the Barnburners and the Soft-Shells; their opponents, of the Hard-Shells, or Dickinson Hunkers.—There are some minor divisions—species of these parties.

Our readers, no doubt, remember that the Barnburners and Softs, were, until the fall of 1849, hostile to each other, and being divided were of but little moment in the political game.

The same year that these gave them all the real political influence which they ever possessed.

Upon the election of Gen. Pierce, however, and resulting from his appointments, a change came o'er the spirit of their dream. He disappointed many Softs, who aspired to office, either for themselves or friends, and he turned the affection of many more into disgust. Many a Soft, therefore, became a Hard, and a large number of those men who had them for remained passive, joined the anti-Administration faction.

Thus the forces now stand. The Soft Shells have a small numerical majority still left, to them, but they have for opponents the old and skilled campaigners, who understand the rules and who are skilled in all electioneering device.

The contest for the Convention will be a close one—and, if the softs do get a majority, it will be but a scanty one. At all events the fight will be an interesting one, and it will afford us much to write.

Voice—Yes! you! (Hisses, laughter and applause.)

Mrs. Brown—I say No! When she hears the voice of God calling upon her to go forward, I say let women forget all the conventional nonsense and go where she goes. (Hisses and cries.) Let her maintain her position for her rights, and every fervent heart will say amen.

Voice in the Gallery.—Time! time! She has spoken.

Miss Mott—Our friend is probably unaware that the time for her speech is over.

Mrs. Brown—I had no idea I had spoken a half an hour.

W. H. Channing—I desire to say a word relative to a paper which is the organ of this Convention. It is called——

A Voice—The Herald. (Laughter and applause.)

Channing—No; the Una, published by Mrs. Davis. (Applause and laughter.)

A Voice—How much is it?

Channing—Only a dollar a year. (More laughter, and Channing sat down.)

Mrs. Ernestine L. Rose, a Polish lady, who is well known to our readers, was next introduced, and delivered one of her customary addresses upon the English language, and abuse of our institutions.

Miss Antoinette L. Brown then made, her appearance and the fun of the evening commenced. She spoke for some time, frequently interrupted by applause and hisses.

The conclusion of her remarks was as follows:

> But the most hopeless and splenetic of the opponents are the women who have suddenly got some influence in society. They are satisfied with their present position, and will be careful that no reform is allowed to creep in among them, that requires of them to exert their intellectual qualifications. They say our daughters ought to be educated, but only to be intellectual drones. They would tell us all else is lost to the advantages of the information she has obtained. (Hisses and cries of "Order.") And what is woman to do? Is she to stand and see her sex crushed to the earth?

Voice—Yes! yes! (Hisses, laughter and applause.)

Mrs. Brown—I say No! When she hears the voices

LOCAL MATTERS.

FIRE.—At 34 o'clock on Saturday evening, the wooden stable adjoining the brewery belonging to ex-Alderman James Carney, and situated in the rear of his dwelling, on South water street, was destroyed by fire. The flames quickly communicated to the brewery, a frame building, and the whole premises were soon a perfect sheet of fire, and entirely consumed. A frame stable next east of the brewery, belonging to a Mr. Doyle, was mostly destroyed. The fire was first discovered in the door of Mr. Carney's stable, and is attributed to incendiarism, as no one belonging to the establishment had been in the building for more than an hour previous, and no lights are ever allowed on the premises. Three horses valued at $300 were burned in the stable. The brick building on South Water street was only saved by having iron shutters, and being otherwise perfectly fire proof. There was a considerable quantity of barley and malt in the brewery, which was entirely consumed. Mr. Carney's loss is about $6000, in buildings, fixtures, stock, &c. Insured for $3,000 in the Ætna Insurance Company of Hartford.

ANOTHER FIRE.—The alarm at 44 o'clock, on yesterday afternoon, was caused by the burning of a large wooden barn and shed, attached to the Southern Hotel, on State St. There were fifteen tons of hay in the barn, which was consumed, together with the buildings. Loss about $1800. The fire is charged to a lot of boys, who were playing about the premises during the afternoon. Two of them were seen, by a lady passing, to throw lighted matches into one of the buildings. There was an insurance of $200.

AID TO NEW ORLEANS.—The total amount of funds received by the Mayor, up to Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, was $2,966 87. Add to this, $420 contributed by Dunne, Union, Excelsior and Rolt, Hiun Lodges of Odd Fellows, and we have the full amount contributed by our city up to the present time—unless some collections were taken in the churches yesterday.

SENS. C. P. WILLIAMS.—This vessel went into the Dry Dock on Saturday, for repairs. She will require several new planks in her bottom also an entire new keel. She is not much strained, and there are no holes in her, although many of her planks are thin in spots where she rubbed on the docks, and her keel in many places is worn even with the planking. It will require two or three weeks to put her in complete running order.

RANGER NORMAN.—The "three masted schooner belonging to Chicago," heretofore reported as putting into the mouth of the Genesee river on Saturday morning, Aug. 27th, having sprung a-leak in the gale, proves to be the Ranger Norman, Capt. Redfield, from Oswego, with a cargo of railroad iron and salt, bound to this port. She discharged her cargo at Charlotte, and on the evening of the 3d inst., arrived at Oswego, where she was immediately placed on the marine railway, for repairs. She will be put in commission early and start again for her destination.

A WORTHY OBJECT.—Judge R. S. WILSON, of the Recorder's Court, collected last week a purse of $106, to be presented to watchman Delahay and Effield, the noble fellows who got such a severe handling while arresting a midnight robber, a week ago yesterday morning. We are glad to know that such faithful "guardians of the night" are to have a slight token of how the public appreciate their services. Judge WILSON has done honor to his head and heart in starting the paper, and putting it through himself.

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS, &c.—NEW FIRM.—Messrs. SHUMAN & GOODMANS have taken the large Fire Proof store, 72 South Water Street, and are opening an extensive stock of Drugs, Medicines, &c, for the wholesale trade. We notice such enterprises with pleasure, as indicating a growth of the Jobbing business of our city. Country and city retail dealers would do well to give Messrs. S. & G. a call.

☞ There is considerable curiosity among our citizens to see the celebrated Panorama of New York City. It will exhibit for the first time in this city next Friday evening, at Tremont Hall.

TAX PAYERS.

We copy the following article from a city paper by request of interested parties:—Ed's. TRIBUNE.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—On looking over the docket of the Recorder's Court, I find a case which has gone to trial, (an appeal case of the city,) The City vs. C. Toohterman. Now, sir, as a tax-payer, I wish to ascertain why the authorities have been so desirous of pressing this case in so unseemly a manner. The cause didn't originate with the city, but was taken up by her officers on the misrepresentation "that one nuisance" were carried on in the immediate neighborhood of the complainant. The suit was duly instituted, and called up before Judge SKINNER, and it was most fully and ably argued to his Honor, by three of our first medical gentlemen that the process used in that manufactory was not only not injurious but beneficial to the waters. That the nuisance complained of did not originate there, but at the very door of the complainant, who from personal pique, it appeared had lodged the information, and to screen his own pocket, and put his neighbor to heavy expense, applied to the city authorities, who took the brunt of the action on themselves, leaving him unscathed. Doubtless it was the duty of our city to see into the matter, as they did, when a verdict was given for the defendant.

But the present appealed action, now assumes a different feature, and our city authorities are either perfectly careless of the city interests—or are base enough to be tools of a party in which in the latter case, knowing the Council to be formed of gentlemen, the individuals, would spurn at such an imputation. I am willing to believe, it is over-zealousness of our city expenditure; but allow me to say, that when gentlemen accept an office as guardian for the people, (which I grant is no sinecure;) still duty is to be considered, and it is the duty of every one to protect the rights of those he represents, as just the duty to interest children in natural history.

Pasquelle's French Conversation.

Philadelphia, Sept. 10.

The New York train due here last night was thrown off the track near Beverly. The breakman was instantly killed and the engineer somewhat bruised. No passengers injured. The accident was caused by a rail being placed on one of the sleepers.

Railway Accident.

Boston, Sept. 8.

Last evening the locomotive, while waiting to take up a Pic-Nic party, consisting of five hundred persons, exploded, and was shattered into a thousand fragments. The fireman was thrown fifty feet into the air, and killed. A large number of the party were standing near, but all escaped.

New York, Sept. 10.

Advices from Marmiabe to Aug. 26th, have been received. The revolutionary party had abandoned the war. The troops were disbanding, and vessels taken from the War service had been given up to the owners. There was not much confidence felt in the strength of the present government. The Treasury was empty, and the government was obliged to resort to private loans to sustain itself.

The Steamship sailed to day with $750,000 in specie, and 65 passengers.

The U. S. Steamer Illinois, from Aspinwall, is coming up the bay.

FURTHER NEWS BY THE STEAMER ASIA.

Boston, Sept. 9.

A dispatch from Paris to Liverpool just before the Asia sailed, says that the latest accounts from Constantinople announce the denial, by Prince Gortschakoff, of the rumor that he had gone over to the interest of Russia. He says he has been desired by the Czar to suspend relations with the Porte and stop paying tribute, but not feeling competent to decide the question himself, he has referred the matter to the Ottoman Government.

The estimate of Spanish, and refugees residing there, had complimented Commander Ingraham for his conduct at Smyrna.

Private letters received by merchants in this city, represent affairs at Canton in a very critical condition. An outbreak was expected.

Matters at Shanghai were quiet, and business dull.

VERMONT ELECTION.

Burlington, Sept. 9.

Return from 104 towns in this State give Fairbanks, Whig, for Governor, 18,410; Robinson, Dem., 12,230; and Brainard, Free Soil, 4,930.—The senate will probably be Whig, and the House Democratic. Only 54 Whigs and 59 Democrats.

The Yellow Fever at New Orleans and Mobile.

New Orleans, Sept. 4, 1853.

The total number of deaths reported for the twenty four hours ending this morning, was 116, including 93 from yellow-fever.

Much fever prevails all along the river. The mail waybill from Thibodeaux says, that the stores there are all closed, the town abandoned, the Postmaster absent, and the clerks all down with the yellow fever.

New Orleans, Sept. 6, 1853.

The total number of interments reported this morning was 98, of which 73 were deaths from yellow fever. This is a very gratifying decrease.

Mobile, Sept. 5, 1853.

The number of deaths reported in this city during the past 24 hours was 43, 33 of them being from yellow fever.

Decision in the India Rubber Case.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 6.

In the Circuit Court of the United States, Judge Pitman, this morning in Chambers, delivered the decision of the court, upon the motion for an injunction in the case of Horace H. Day against Isaac Hartshorn, David Hayward, and Nathaniel Hayward, which was recently argued before him at Newport. An injunction was granted, unless the defendants should give bond with security to be approved by the court, to account for all profits arising from the use of Charles's invention, and to pay over the same according to the order of the court. The order for the injunction is the same as heretofore granted in this Circuit Court, by Judge Woodbury, in the Woodworth planing machine case, to which decision Judge Pitman referred.

STEAMBOATS BURNED.

About half past one o'clock yesterday morning, the steamer North America, lying at Litherbury's Ship Yard, in Camden, was discovered to be on fire. The flames spread so rapidly, that no effort was made to save her. The steamers Clara and Europa were lying beside her, and the flames soon communicated to them. The Clara was entirely destroyed, and Europa saved in a damaged condition. The fire was supposed to be the work of an incendiary.—Cincinnati Commercial Sept. 9.

Later from Washington.

The young lady, whose escape from the Georgetown Convent was telegraphed to the Tribune on Sunday last, was a Miss Mary Jones, of Mississippi. She is supposed to be worth three hundred thousand dollars in her own right. She was married to-day at the National Hotel. The lucky recipient of her hand and purse, is G. N. Jordan, proprietor of Jordan's Springs, near Winchester, Frederick county, Va.

Colonel Bissell, of Illinois, may accept his appointment to the Chargeship to Buenos Ayres; but a week or two will elapse before his final determination.

THOMPSONIAN ARITHMETIC! TRIUMPH! ! !

THE COMMON SCHOOL BOARD OF EDUCATION of the city of Chicago, at their last meeting was unanimous in their decision to introduce Thompson's Mental Arithmetic to be used in the Public Schools—this decision was arrived at after a careful examination of the various text books before the Board of Education. Copies for examination will be furnished to Teachers, on application to S. C. GRIGGS & CO.

One of the largest classes in Arithmetic has recently been formed in Chicago, under the tuition of Professor Thompson's Series of Mathematical Text Books, and the following is the unanimous report of their superior merits, when compared with any other Arithmetic in use in the Schools and Academies of Chicago:

The undersigned Committee of Professor Thompson's Series of Mathematical Text Books, would report in the strongest terms of approbation of the elementary character of the work, when compared with any other Arithmetic in use in the Schools and Academies of Chicago. The clearness and explicitness with which the principles are developed, and the numerous examples for practice, are highly commending traits of the work, and we would recommend its introduction into our Schools.

Signed, C. V. DYER, Principal of Chicago High School.
D. S. TERRY, Principal of Chicago Female Seminary.
A. J. SAWYER, Principal of Chicago Female Seminary.

JUST ISSUED FROM THE PRESS.

Natural History for Schools.

THE BEGINNER'S BOOK OF NATURAL HISTORY, for the use of Schools and for the general reader; illustrated by nearly 100 engravings, on wood; by J. G. Dowstock, M. D.—Price 87 1-2.

Notice from the Democratic Press, Chicago, July 15, 1853:

"This is the first of a series of works on Natural History, by Dr. Dowstock, and is in all respects a capital book. It is beautifully illustrated, and is the best work of the kind for beginners that we have seen. We understand it is highly recommended by Professors, and is in use in many of the best schools. We commend it to the attention of parents and teachers, as just the thing to interest children in natural history."

From the North Western Christian Advocate, Aug. 3, 1853:

"That is the best book of the kind with which we have examined. It is in the systematic arrangement of the subjects, and in the manner in which it is calculated to interest the general reader, that it is to be preferred to any other work of the kind that we have seen; and library is complete without it."

From the Congregational Herald, Aug. 31:

"There are few more interesting or important subjects for study than natural history. We are glad to see that this successful and accomplished compiler of educational works has given us a book which will be as well adapted to the use of schools and families. We hope its circulation and use will equal its merits."

Railroad Accident.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.

The New York train due here last night was thrown off the track near Beverly. The breakman was instantly killed and the engineer somewhat bruised. No passengers injured. The accident was caused by a rail being placed on one of the sleepers.

Railway Accident.

Boston, Sept. 8.

Last evening the locomotive, while waiting to take up a Pic-Nic party, consisting of five hundred persons, exploded, and was shattered into a thousand fragments. The fireman was thrown fifty feet into the air, and killed. A large number of the party were standing near, but all escaped.

New York, Sept. 10.

Advices from Marmiabe to Aug. 26th, have been received. The revolutionary party had abandoned the war. The troops were disbanding, and vessels taken from the War service had been given up to the owners. There was not much confidence felt in the strength of the present government. The Treasury was empty, and the government was obliged to resort to private loans to sustain itself.

The Steamship sailed to day with $750,000 in specie, and 65 passengers.

The U. S. Steamer Illinois, from Aspinwall, is coming up the bay.

FURTHER NEWS BY THE STEAMER ASIA.

Boston, Sept. 9.

A dispatch from Paris to Liverpool just before the Asia sailed, says that the latest accounts from Constantinople announce the denial, by Prince Gortschakoff, of the rumor that he had gone over to the interest of Russia. He says he has been desired by the Czar to suspend relations with the Porte and stop paying tribute, but not feeling competent to decide the question himself, he has referred the matter to the Ottoman Government.

The estimate of Spanish, and refugees residing there, had complimented Commander Ingraham for his conduct at Smyrna.

Private letters received by merchants in this city, represent affairs at Canton in a very critical condition. An outbreak was expected.

Matters at Shanghai were quiet, and business dull.

VERMONT ELECTION.

Burlington, Sept. 9.

Return from 104 towns in this State give Fairbanks, Whig, for Governor, 18,410; Robinson, Dem., 12,230; and Brainard, Free Soil, 4,930.—The senate will probably be Whig, and the House Democratic. Only 54 Whigs and 59 Democrats.

The Yellow Fever at New Orleans and Mobile.

New Orleans, Sept. 4, 1853.

The total number of deaths reported for the twenty four hours ending this morning, was 116, including 93 from yellow-fever.

Much fever prevails all along the river. The mail waybill from Thibodeaux says, that the stores there are all closed, the town abandoned, the Postmaster absent, and the clerks all down with the yellow fever.

New Orleans, Sept. 6, 1853.

The total number of interments reported this morning was 98, of which 73 were deaths from yellow fever. This is a very gratifying decrease.

Mobile, Sept. 5, 1853.

Decision in the India Rubber Case.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 6.

In the Circuit Court of the United States, Judge Pitman, this morning in Chambers, delivered the decision of the court, upon the motion for an injunction in the case of Horace H. Day against Isaac Hartshorn, David Hayward, and Nathaniel Hayward, which was recently argued before him at Newport. An injunction was granted, unless the defendants should give bond with security to be approved by the court, to account for all profits arising from the use of Charles's invention, and to pay over the same according to the order of the court. The order for the injunction is the same as heretofore granted in this Circuit Court, by Judge Woodbury, in the Woodworth planing machine case, to which decision Judge Pitman referred.

STEAMBOATS BURNED.

About half past one o'clock yesterday morning, the steamer North America, lying at Litherbury's Ship Yard, in Camden, was discovered to be on fire. The flames spread so rapidly, that no effort was made to save her. The steamers Clara and Europa were lying beside her, and the flames soon communicated to them. The Clara was entirely destroyed, and Europa saved in a damaged condition. The fire was supposed to be the work of an incendiary.—Cincinnati Commercial Sept. 9.

Later from Washington.

The young lady, whose escape from the Georgetown Convent was telegraphed to the Tribune on Sunday last, was a Miss Mary Jones, of Mississippi. She is supposed to be worth three hundred thousand dollars in her own right. She was married to-day at the National Hotel. The lucky recipient of her hand and purse, is G. N. Jordan, proprietor of Jordan's Springs, near Winchester, Frederick county, Va.

Colonel Bissell, of Illinois, may accept his appointment to the Chargeship to Buenos Ayres; but a week or two will elapse before his final determination.
